Water wise

U99

You will need pen and pencil calculator

What to do
Find your home’s water meter, record the read-out number and note the time.
At the same time every day, record the read-out number—do this for seven consecutive days.
From this information find out how much water you used:
• each day
• for the week
Calculate a yearly average.

Check your water rate notice—how close was your yearly average?

Discuss your results, keeping in mind the different seasons. (For instance, in summer you will probably need to water the garden.)

WHERE’S THE MATHS?
Collecting and recording data, finding the average.
